Celtic Spirit Award

On September 15th, Clans, Celts and Clover celebrated it's First Anniversary. As part of the celebration, the Celtic Spirit Award was given out. There was overwhelming response in regards to one very special lady, and it was our honor to present the award to Greta McDougall. Greta has been extremely involved in the Scottish community participating in many Burns nights, Folk Fests, and Pipe Bands as well as being one of the hosts of the "Sounds of Scotland" on CFCR Radio. As winner, Greta will choose a non-brought to life by Mike Myers in three films of the same name. Originally, Myers read the role without the Scottish accent, but re-read all of the lines later with the accent to give the character more life.

Lochcarron kiltmakers and VisitScotland, the national tourist organization, worked together to create the idea. In keeping with a swampy feel, the tartan was created using "muted browns and acid greens", which reflect the ogre's status.

Mike Myers was present at the unveiling and was giving his own Shrek tartan.

Jenni Steele of VisitScotland says "if Shrek can have a tartan, so can anyone."
